Annual Raccoon Oral Rabies Vaccinations

The Anne Arundel County Department of Health will conduct the annual Raccoon Oral Rabies Vaccinations September 1 – 30, 2016. Edible baits containing rabies vaccine will be placed countywide to vaccinate thousands of raccoons against rabies.

Please Note:

- The baits will be placed in neighborhoods by ground teams of Department of Health staff traveling in marked County vehicles. In less populated areas, baits will be dropped from a low-flying County Police helicopter.
- If you see any bait, please leave it alone so the raccoons can find it and eat it.
- During this time and for at least two additional weeks, it is recommended that pets be kept indoors or on leashes outside. This will allow enough time for raccoons to eat the bait.
- The bait is not harmful to people, pets or wildlife. Should your pet find bait, take care in removing the bait from your pet's mouth. If ingested, the bait may cause diarrhea or vomiting in dogs, cats and ferrets due to the high fat content of the bait. The bait is marked with a 1-800 phone number to call if you or your pet has contact with the liquid vaccine inside the bait. You can also call 410-222-0056, ext. 3031.
- The vaccine cannot be used to vaccinate your pet against rabies. The vaccine is approved only for use in raccoons.

To see a photo of the bait and for more information, visit www.aahealth.org/orv. If you have any questions, please call the Bureau of Environmental Health at 410-222-0056, ext. 3031.
